Dear Leader McConnell and Leader Schumer,

We commend your bipartisan leadership and cooperation in responding to the health and economic crisis resulting from the COVID-19 pandemic. In that spirit, we write to urge the inclusion of targeted relief for the live entertainment industry in future legislation.

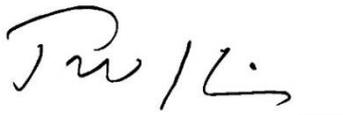

The workforce behind live entertainment was among the quickest hit, with thousands of events across the country canceled in the early days of the pandemic. These cancellations have been critical in slowing the spread of the virus, but have also come at significant cost to workers at concert venues, stadiums, arenas, theaters and more. We expect this industry will continue to be disproportionately impacted. Even as the current stay-at-home orders are phased down, there will continue to be restrictions and limitations imposed upon large gatherings for an extended period.

The resulting postponements and cancellations are causing economic hardship to the millions of Americans employed by the live entertainment industry. These include the workers who set-up, produce, manage and coordinate live events all across the country. These are concert technicians, grounds crew, ushers, food concession workers, security personnel, call center employees, ticket handlers and so many more. These workers were among the first to have their jobs disrupted, and will be among the last to return to work.

While many live event workers and employers will benefit from the provisions established by the CARES Act, this relief will not be adequate for many others. Moreover, these employers and workers will not be able to return to pre-crisis business immediately, or even for months to come.

Thank you in advance for your consideration. We look forward to working with you to ensure the survival of this critically important sector of the economy.

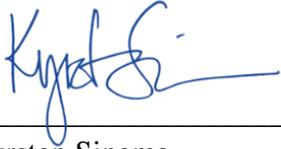

Sincerely,

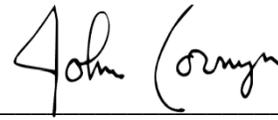

Tim Kaine
